RT DOOLEY CAPTURES SAFETY ON FILM

Charlotte Based Episode XI Studios Partners With RT Dooley to Produce Safety Orientation Video

Full service video production company-Episode XI Studios-is contracted by RT Dooley, a Balfour Beatty company, to produce a safety orientation video. The DVD video will be used to train employees on proper safety protocols.

RT Dooley Construction Company was founded in 1977, by Robert Thomas Dooley, Jr. on the simple philosophy of being “totally focused on pleasing the client.” The company’s success is the result of this professional service-oriented approach along with the dedication, strong fundamental values and work ethic of our people. RT Dooley recently joined Balfour Beatty Construction U.S., Southeast Division.

RT Dooley joins Balfour Beatty Construction’s Charlotte-based Southeast Division in a $1 billion-plus enterprise blending its own expertise with Balfour Beatty Construction’s experience in exterior core and shell construction and backed by London-based Balfour Beatty plc, a global construction, engineering, and investment services business exceeding $14 billion in annual revenues.

Episode XI Studios, LLC is located in Charlotte, NC, and believes in going well beyond a camera and a tripod, by using a cinema approach of using camera cranes and dollies. The end result isn’t a video production, but a Hollywood-style production, and all for the small to mid-sized companies.
